

I am opposed to giving a business the capability to own more of the media in an area. This would limit the viewpoints EASILY/READILY available to the electorate; this undermines a strong democracy. If a few businesses own the media sources, then their viewpoints will be reflected in the internet news also. Saying that internet news alleviates the problem is not right. Many people do not have access to internet news.